Back in the early 1930s, Louis Botchman traveled from house to house in the Greenwich, CT area, providing rental uniforms for butlers and other service staff. These early efforts led to the founding of White Plains Linen many years later.

2001

Peekskill, NY

In 2001 White Plains Linen moved to its current location on John Walsh Boulevard in Peekskill, NY. Bruce continued to make both infrastructure and plant improvements, ultimately increasing the size of the plant to more than 100,000 square feet.

1978-2000

Peekskill, NY

Between 1978 and 2000, the company made substantial investments in new, improved laundry equipment and delivery vehicles. White Plains Linen experienced major growth as a result.

1978 Peekskill, NY

The family bought an existing laundry plant located on Highland Avenue in Peekskill, NY in 1978. Adding this facility, the company now laundered, processed, and delivered clean linens and uniforms to customers throughout the greater New York City area.

1973 White Plains, NY

In 1973, Allan's son Bruce became the leader of the family business. By this time, the company had expanded to the delivery of cleaned and processed linens, working out of the same depot in White Plains.

Today, White Plains Linen is the largest employer in the City of Peekskill, NY. In addition to our main location on John Walsh Boulevard, White Plains Linen also has three separate warehouses in Peekskill. Each holds a significant amount of product, allowing us to meet the needs of our growing customer base.

Focus on SUSTAINABILITY

White Plains Linen is proud of our Clean Green certification, reflecting our dedication to standards for operational efficiency and sustainability. This certification quantifies linen, uniform and facility services' environmentally friendly performance by confirming an operation launders within TRSA (Textile Rental Services Association)-designated water and energy use thresholds. And verifies use of best management practices (BMPs) in line with the ASTM International environmental laundering standard.

White Plains Linen's customers can be assured their tabletops, napkins, uniforms, mats and other reusable textiles are washed, dried and finished with processes that maximize sustainability and reduce greenhouse emissions. Clean Green certified operations demonstrate significant commitment to conservation and green operations through these BMPs:

Recovering heat from drained hot water and heat dispersed from the process of warming water

Recapturing drained

water from rinses

for reuse

Ž,

Removing solids and liquids from wastewater

Using environmentally friendly detergents

Recycling programs

Re-routing trucks to save vehicle fuel

Spill prevention plans

Solar energy and energy-efficient lighting

We earned our initial Clean Green certification in 2014. TRSA inspects laundry facilities seeking certification and approves documentation of their water and energy use and BMP deployment through production reports they submit to auditors during the inspections.

Clean Green aligns with the ASTM International standard, Guide for Sustainable Laundry Practices, which recognizes key criteria for the certification as universal indicators of maximum sustainability in commercial laundry work.

ASTM's review of TRSA best management practices verified these as the most effective and practical techniques for a laundry to achieve green objectives. Justainaki
